

Invasive plants at Elmwood meet their match - Richmond Register

Escrito por kathadin: Google Noticias
Lunes, 13 de Abril de 2015 19:31

Invasive plants at Elmwood meet their matchRichmond RegisterThe Kathadin sheep, bred in Maine and prized for their adaptability, docile nature, low maintenance and resistance to parasites and foot rot, will strip the plants of all vegetative matter, leaves and flowers, removing nutrients and weakening the plants.

Leer: kathadin: Google Noticias